

Native American Resources

Native storyteller Thomas Doty has free cultural resource pages on his website, featuring the native people of southern Oregon and northern California. There is an extensive Library of writing on native traditions, as well as accurate information on rock carvings and paintings, mythology and history, the Sacred Salmon Ceremony, digital tours of the Old Time villages of Ti'lomikh and Coyote's Paw, photos and descriptions of sacred landscapes, and more!

Cultural Resources

This page is a great place to begin your journey into native traditions. There are descriptions of the resources, and links to individual pages.

www.DotyCoyote.com/resources

Sources — Native Archives

Here are print-friendly PDFs of many of the sources Thomas Doty uses in his storytelling, including the works of Sapir, Harrington, Dixon, Drucker, and Holt.

www.DotyCoyote.com/archives